

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Charity (pictured above) lives in the Imvepi refugee settlement in Uganda. She used to have to stay home and miss school when she got her period because she didn't have access to sanitary pads or tampons. After receiving reusable sanitary pads from ActionAid each month, Charity says she is more confident and can now attend school, get an education and build the future she wants.

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Charity (pictured above) lives in the Imvepi refugee settlement in Uganda. She used to have to stay home and miss school when she got her period because she didn't have access to sanitary pads or tampons. After receiving reusable sanitary pads from ActionAid each month, Charity says she is more confident and can now attend school, get an education and build the future she wants.

© Esther Mbabazi / ActionAid

Registered with

© 2024. ActionAid is a charitable company limited by guarantee and registered in England and Wales (company number 01295174). Our England and Wales charity number is 274467, and our Scottish charity number is SC045476. Our registered office is 33-39, Bowling Green Lane, London EC1R 0BJ.

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Amy Thior (pictured in yellow), is the president of the GIE, a women's group on Djirnda Island in Senegal, who are helping their community to build resilience to climate change. With ActionAid's support, the group have been pioneering long-term solutions to the rising sea levels, such as planting mangrove trees to protect the island's shoreline against further erosion.

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Amy Thior (pictured in yellow), is the president of the GIE, a women's group on Djirnda Island in Senegal, who are helping their community to build resilience to climate change. With ActionAid's support, the group have been pioneering long-term solutions to the rising sea levels, such as planting mangrove trees to protect the island's shoreline against further erosion.

© Ina Makosi/ActionAid

Registered with

FUNDRAISING
REGULATOR

© 2024. ActionAid is a charitable company limited by guarantee and registered in England and Wales (company number 01295174). Our England and Wales charity number is 274467, and our Scottish charity number is SC045476. Our registered office is 33-39, Bowling Green Lane, London EC1R 0BJ.

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Juliet Tumwesigye (pictured in yellow) is the founder of ActionAid's partner organisation, the Community Transformation Agenda (COTA). We support COTA to reach refugee women and girls in Uganda and set up training courses and workshops so they can learn about their rights, sexual and reproductive health and how to earn an income.

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Juliet Tumwesigye (pictured in yellow) is the founder of ActionAid's partner organisation, the Community Transformation Agenda (COTA). We support COTA to reach refugee women and girls in Uganda and set up training courses and workshops so they can learn about their rights, sexual and reproductive health and how to earn an income.

Registered with

FUNDRAISING
REGULATOR

© 2024. ActionAid is a charitable company limited by guarantee and registered in England and Wales (company number 01295174). Our England and Wales charity number is 274467, and our Scottish charity number is SC045476. Our registered office is 33-39, Bowling Green Lane, London EC1R 0BJ.

In aid of act!onaid

© Cindy Liu/ActionAid

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Hok Laykieng (pictured in pink) is a farmer and a member of ActionAid's Women's Champion programme in Pursat province, Cambodia. As part of her role, Hok helps her community become more resilient to climate change by finding alternative, more sustainable farming methods.

© 2024. ActionAid is a charitable company limited by guarantee and registered in England and Wales (company number 01295174). Our England and Wales charity number is 274467, and our Scottish charity number is SC045476. Our registered office is 33-39, Bowling Green Lane, London EC1R 0BJ.

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Hok Laykieng (pictured in pink) is a farmer and a member of ActionAid's Women's Champion programme in Pursat province, Cambodia. As part of her role, Hok helps her community become more resilient to climate change by finding alternative, more sustainable farming methods.

© Cindy Liu/ActionAid

Registered with

FUNDRAISING
REGULATOR

© 2024. ActionAid is a charitable company limited by guarantee and registered in England and Wales (company number 01295174). Our England and Wales charity number is 274467, and our Scottish charity number is SC045476. Our registered office is 33-39, Bowling Green Lane, London EC1R 0BJ.

In aid of act!onaid

© F. Dilek Yurdakul / ActionAid

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Najlaa Al-Sheikh (pictured right) is the founder of Kareemat, the first Syrian women-led organisation in Türkiye. She built Kareemat as a safe space for women refugees to learn new skills through vocational training courses and access services like counselling and childcare support.

© 2024. ActionAid is a charitable company limited by guarantee and registered in England and Wales (company number 01295174). Our England and Wales charity number is 274467, and our Scottish charity number is SC045476. Our registered office is 33-39, Bowling Green Lane, London EC1R 0BJ.

ActionAid is an international charity working with women and girls to create a more just, equitable and sustainable future.

Najlaa Al-Sheikh (pictured right) is the founder of Kareemat, the first Syrian women-led organisation in Türkiye. She built Kareemat as a safe space for women refugees to learn new skills through vocational training courses and access services like counselling and childcare support.

© F. Dilek Yurdakul / ActionAid

Registered with

FUNDRAISING
REGULATOR

© 2024. ActionAid is a charitable company limited by guarantee and registered in England and Wales (company number 01295174). Our England and Wales charity number is 274467, and our Scottish charity number is SC045476. Our registered office is 33-39, Bowling Green Lane, London EC1R 0BJ.